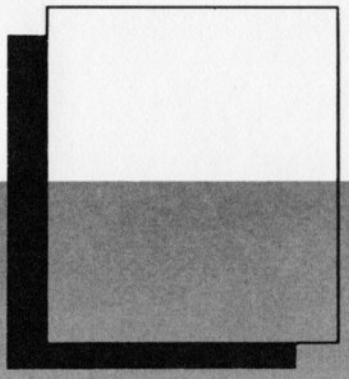
. . . Our Generation



Talkin' About...

Vic High

A school of many faces

Like Bruce Springsteen who talks about his "Glory Days" , we too will look back upon the eighties as our glory years. Those years contain within them all our dreams, hopes, fears, and experiences and together form who we are. What did these years contain for you? What experiences occurred? As you turn the pages of this book, you will be confronted by the events of the decade that helped shape your life. Did they make you insane, happy, confused, apathetic, angry? Regardless, it is your generation we are talking about. Next year, a whole new generation will emerge, the generation of the nineties. But now we signal the twilight of the eighties....

Walk and see the decade that formed our generation

BLACK AND GO

The planning of the Black and Gold Olympics began at the September 15 leadership retreat. As each student brainstormed ideas for events, it was easy to tell that the most evil laughs were events including teachers. Once the events were decided upon, we had to think up a theme for house names. Running shoes, gum, and cookies had all been done in previous years. After much discussion, the theme of jeans was selected and the teams were named Bugle Boy, Ikeda, Roberto, and Levi.

On the afternoon of October 2, we met in the auditorium to preview some of the events as presented by the staff. (Our Vic High staff is exceptionally profficient at "the orange pass"!) Each team met to sign up their competitors, and the stage was set for the Olympics on October 4.

First to launch the activities was an obstacle course, which included diapering a doll! As the afternoon rolled along, so did the wheelchairs; eggs did fly, and faces became covered in whipped cream. When the cheering had subsided and the scores were calculated, the Ikedas came out on top. This was, after all, a fitting tribute to the team who cheered the loudest and longest.

Trish, Tami, and Lisa show their "leadership" spirit as they prepare themselves for the olympics.

During the orange pass, Lisa laughs hysterically at Bill's attempt to balance the orange.

Nearing the end of the obstacle course, Ryan and Gary use their manly strength to drive the screws into the wood.

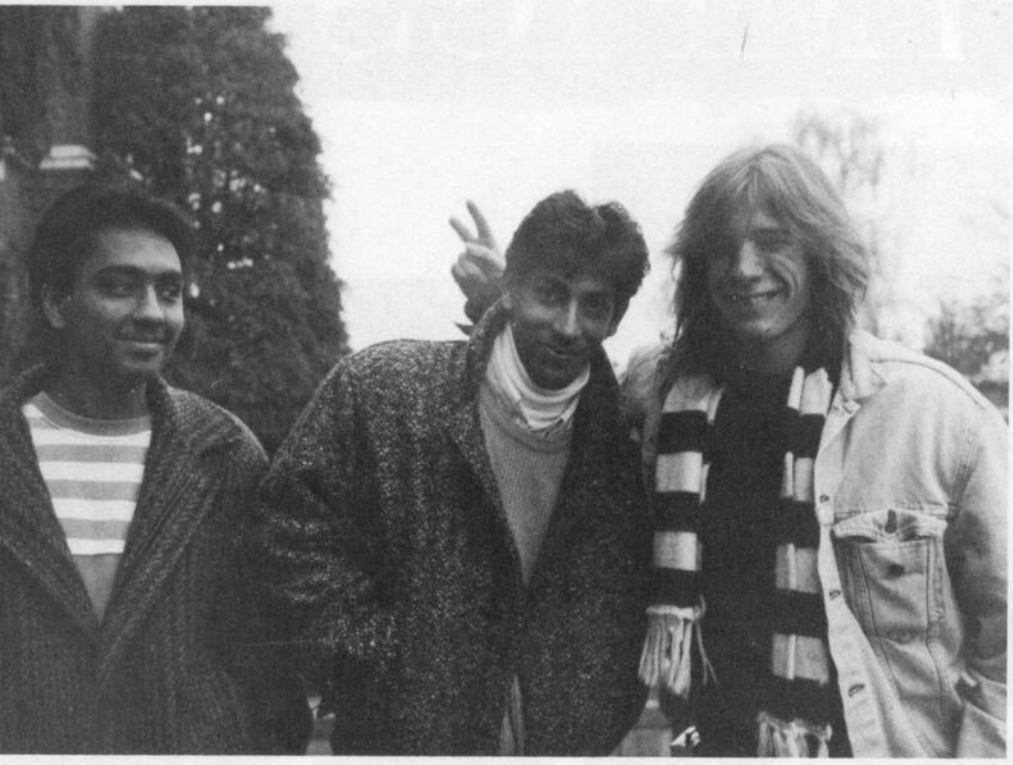
Jon, leading the cheers and shaking his pom-poms,was a big inspiration for the winning Ikeda team.

The Ikedas win "The Surprise Event" by forming the best Vic High emblem out of students bodies.

Sean, in search of the jellybeans, gets covered in whipped cream.



Candid Camera

As our cameras roamed the crags of Vic High we began to discover the essence of what our school is; diversity and tolerance began to appear as the most apparent qualities. Diversity ranging from peaceniks and environmentalists to a school cafeteria serving soup in styrafoam cups.

Leather jackets and "metallica" shirts with the rare loafer and pastel. From sixth generation Canadian to brand new Canadians struggling to learn English and none of them knowing who Wilfred Laurier was. Who was he anyway? Does anyone care? Tolerance was also evident, tolerance of asbestos, of each other, a tolerance that accepted everyone in the school from young to the very old, even of the new principal who wears those funny suspenders. The scenes of foolish teachers trying to play hockey and always claiming victory regardless of the score, of mobs of students mingling in front of their lockers during class all passed through the lens of the camera and gave meaning to our experience and memory. And through all this where were you? In class dissecting fetal pigs, rucking over, at the pony, studying for provincials, sleeping in, skipping out, painting murals, or acting out, fixing your car, or speaking another language, working through Algebraic formulas. Regardless, it was all part of the Vic High experience.

Teacher / Student Games

The ancient, senile, rapidly degenerating bodies of the teachers were no match for the hurculean youths' incredible finesse. Even when the pathetic teachers began cheating unashamedly, it was futile. They were unable to so much as slow the rolling juggernaught of the student offence. The teachers were, needless to say, obliterated. The score is so humiliating that we won't even print it.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Presidents' Messages

Looking back on the school year, I remember the many successful events that the students council has sponsored. The council's hard work, school spirit and exciting ideas created and organized events such as the Halloween Howl, Spirit Weeks, and the Heart Fund Coin Drive. I thank all members and the teacher sponsors Mrs. Costain, Miss Van Heteren, Mrs. Warder and Mr. Dilay for making this year enjoyable.
- Leigh Barrett

I want to teel you what makes Vic High so special to me. It's not the long history that Vic High has had, or the great teachers that are here, or the community support we've got. I mean, that's part of it, but not the real reason. What makes Vic High so special is that here, we can be somebody. We're not just another number, or a nameless face, or a statistic just passing through. Here, we can be important without really having to be good at anything except what we know best, and that's being ourselves.

People always ask ,"What is SKY Club?". Well,Special Kiwanis Youth lub is a high school organization that involves teens volunteering their me for the elderly and handicapped. This year the Vic. High Sky Club is orking at the Oak Bay Kiwanis Pavillion. Every Wednesday, we visit the lderly and help with many other duties. Every spring there is a Sky Club onference. All the clubs from British Columbia, Washington, and Oregon et together in a host city to meet each other and have some fun. This ear we are going to the University of B.C. for three days.

When the Oak Bay Tea Party comes to Victoria, we raise funds by elling ice cream and snacks.This is basically what the SKY CLUB stands r.

Grad Council

Grad Banquet and Dance Committee

Being on the grad comittee gives me a say in how grad is going to be. It is a special event in my life so I want to be sure to make it a special night. The dinner dance members decide on such things as where the dance will be, what will be on the menu, and when the exciting evening will take place. I'm also looking forward to decorating the Harbour Towers ballroom.

The recognition ceremony members make decisons regarding who the guest speaker will be and what the order of events will be at U-Vic on the fateful date of June 12, 1990.

The memorabilia committee is in charge of ordering and selling various knick-knacks related to Vic High's Grad '90, including T-shirts, key chains, and sweatshirts.

The object of the Grad comittee is to make this year's graduation the best ever!

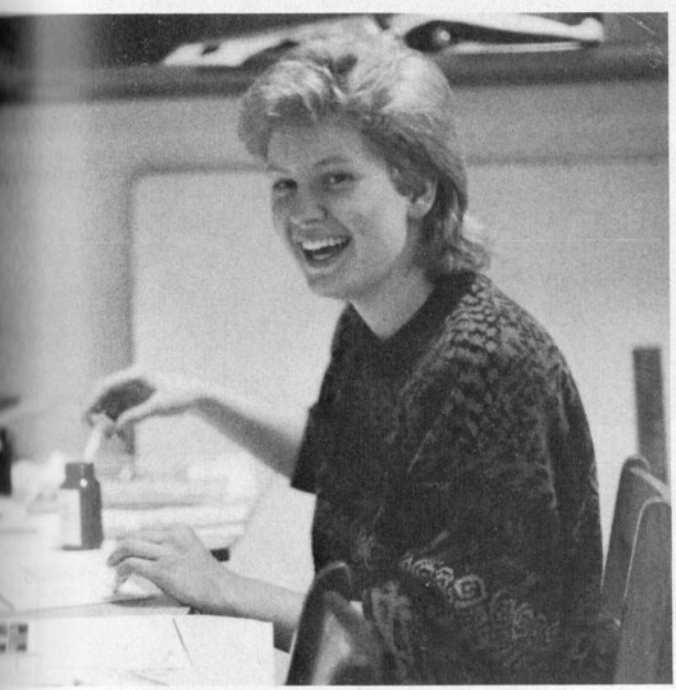
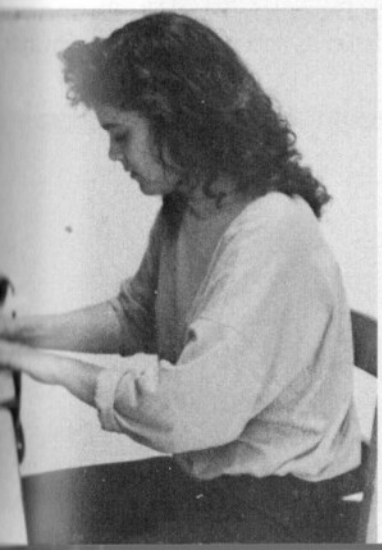
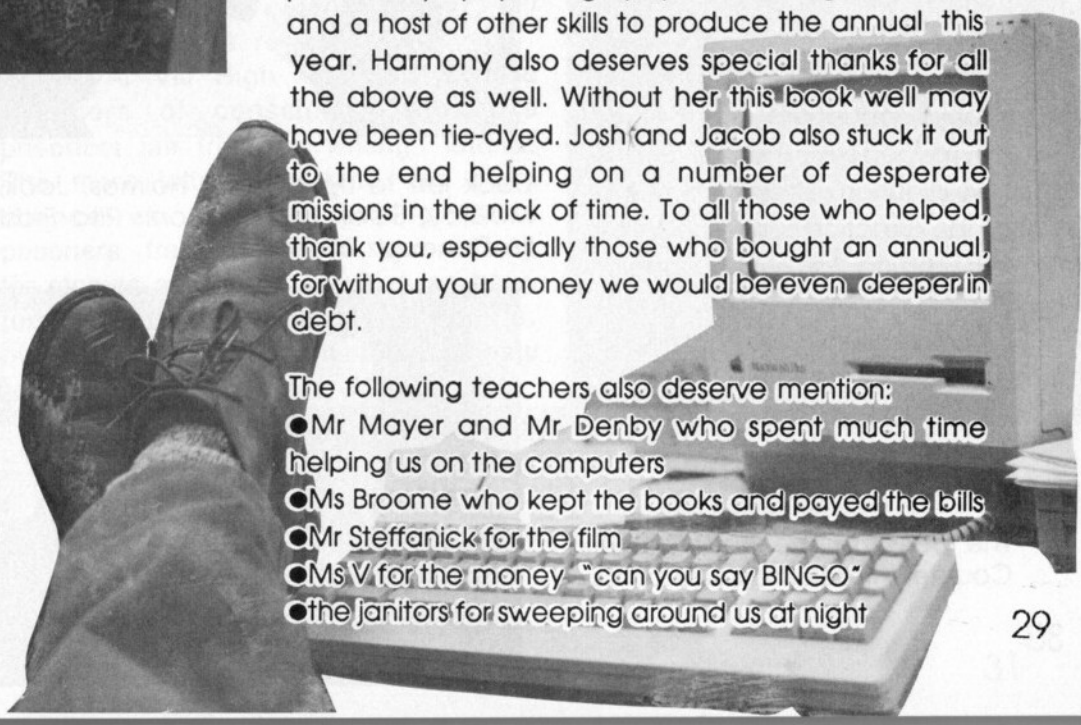
Annual Club



Belonging to the annual is a long difficult task. It is curious at the beginning of the year there is a sea of faces willing to help. However, when many students realize that it actually requires work and they have to create it themselves (I thought teachers did that) the numbers quickly dwindle to just a few. Cooperation is also a key ingredient to a successful annual and students have to get along, share ideas, and be zany together to ensure the best possible publication. That brings me to another point, we produce a 135 page book - like a company. That is an amazing thought, and its a book about you, a look at this culture that is Vic High- a time piece really. So I must especially thank Allyson who put in looooooong hours, risked being accosted by associates of Streetlink, learned about computers, politics, lay-up, photography , marketing, toleration and a host of other skills to produce the annual this year. Harmony also deserves special thanks for all the above as well. Without her this book well may have been tie-dyed. Josh and Jacob also stuck it out to the end helping on a number of desperate missions in the nick of time. To all those who helped, thank you, especially those who bought an annual, for without your money we would be even deeper in debt.



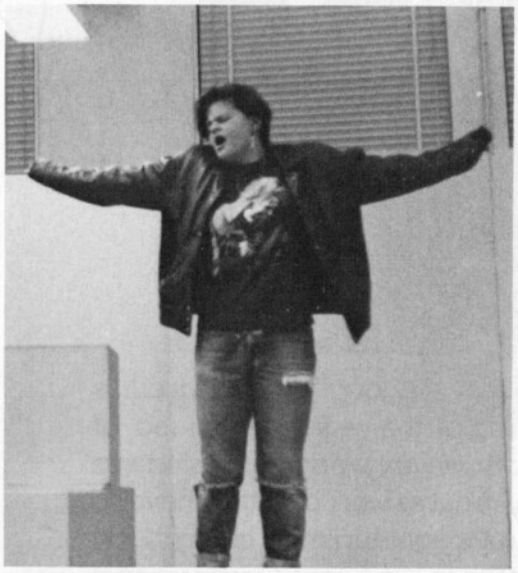


The following teachers also deserve mention:

- Mr Mayer and Mr Denby who spent much time helping us on the computers
- Ms Broome who kept the books and payed the bills
- Mr Steffanick for the film
- Ms V for the money "can you say BINGO"
- the janitors for sweeping around us at night

DRAMA CLUB

Tami gets melodramatic.



Actors in the Counter Attack play take their final bow.

This year's Drama Club started out with a small group of people that wrote, produced, and starred in the performance "It Does Matter", performed at the Counter Attack conference in Nanaimo in November. This performance starred Kathy Shierman, Krsangi Baxter, Mark Collins, Tami Wilson, Rita Frost, Christine Babichuk and Wally Underwood, with Laurie McDonagh as sound and stage manager. Now, the drama club has evolved into a group of a countless number of drop-ins to perform Theatre Sports Thursdays at lunch. The Drama Club is under the direction of the beautiful and outstanding Jackie McDonald. Drop by and cheer on the Drama Club. You're always guaranteed a great time!

– Laurie McDonagh

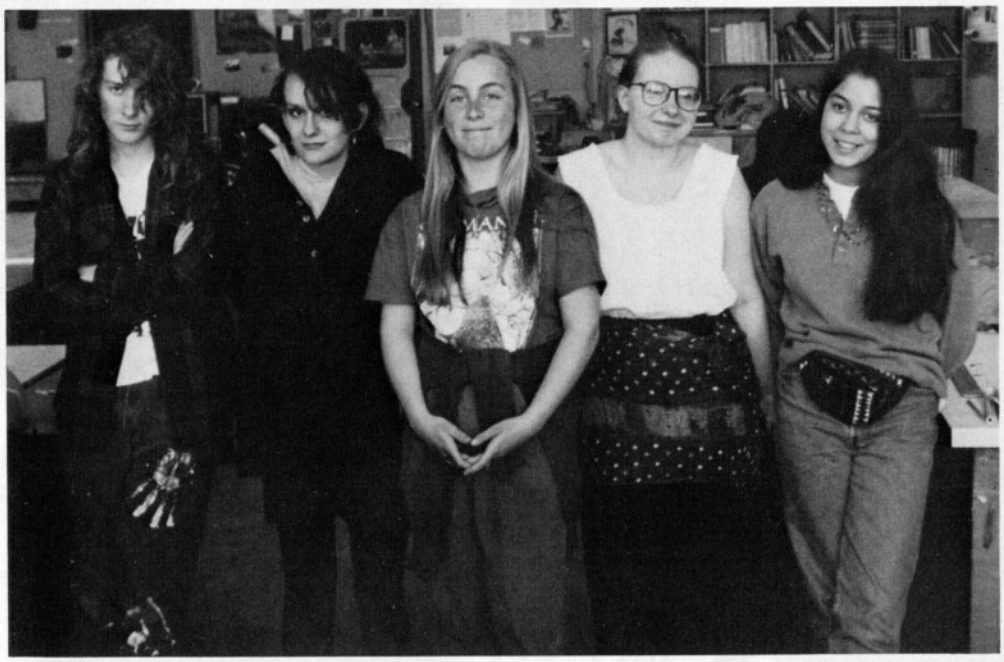
Amnesty Club



Amnesty International plays a specific role in the international protection of human rights. It seeks the release of prisoners of consciense: people detained anywhere for their beliefs, colour, sex, ethnic origin, language or religion. It works for fair and prompt trials for all political prisoners. It also opposes the death penalty and torture as well as other cruel, inhumane or degrading treatments or punishment of all prisoners without reservation.

At Vic High we work to free prisoners of conscience and give prisoners fair trials by writing letters. The more letters we write, the more chance we have of setting those prisoners free. In order to make money for stamps and group activities we have fundraisers such as selling t-shirts, buttons, and gifts from the Amnesty catalogue.

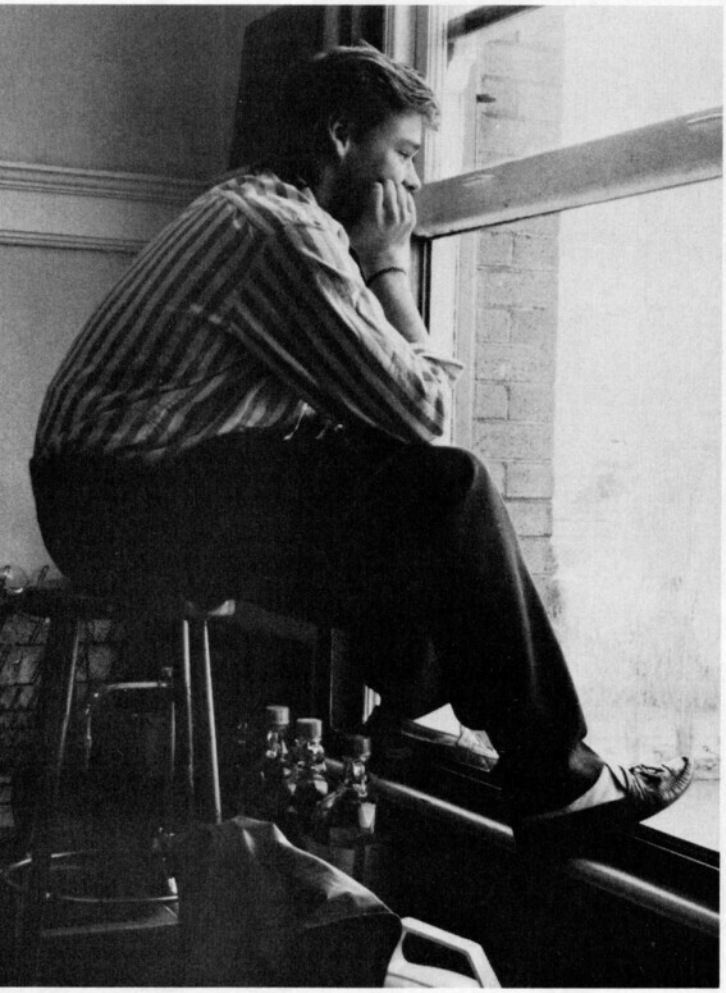
Academics

SCIENCE



Biology, or "bology", as Miss Van Heteren would say, really can be fun. Few academic subjects draw more than a yawn from most people; but then few courses permit people to call themselves "bologists". At Vic High the bologists are many, and many enjoy their bology.

The first thing the new bologist learns is to say bology, "because it's cooler", says Miss V. Soon the new bologist is busy studying everything from evolution to the body plan of the Paramecium. While teaching, Miss V.emphasizes important points by yelling, "NEAT STUFF!!" as long as she can without disturbing her neighbor, Mrs. Starr. Miss V. also helps her students understand certain points by using her body as an example. For instance, she has imitated an earthworm to demonstrate how it moves. She also cut off the circulation on one of her hands and played with the blood trapped in her veins to demonstrate how veins work. In one lab she was Mother Nature, distributing food for the predators (bologists) to gather in an attempt to survive.

"Bology", the study of all living things, has to be one of the more interesting courses at Vic High. What other subject could students take where they could learn and be entertained the whole time, too?

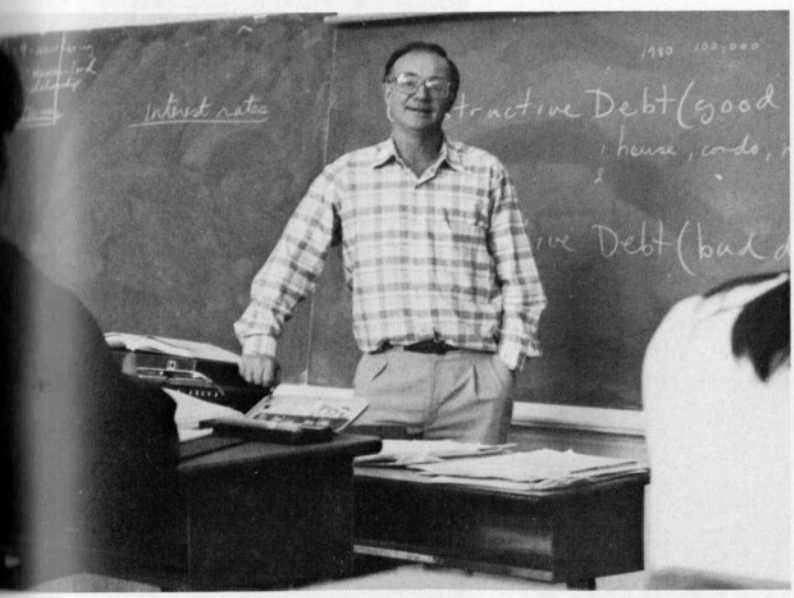
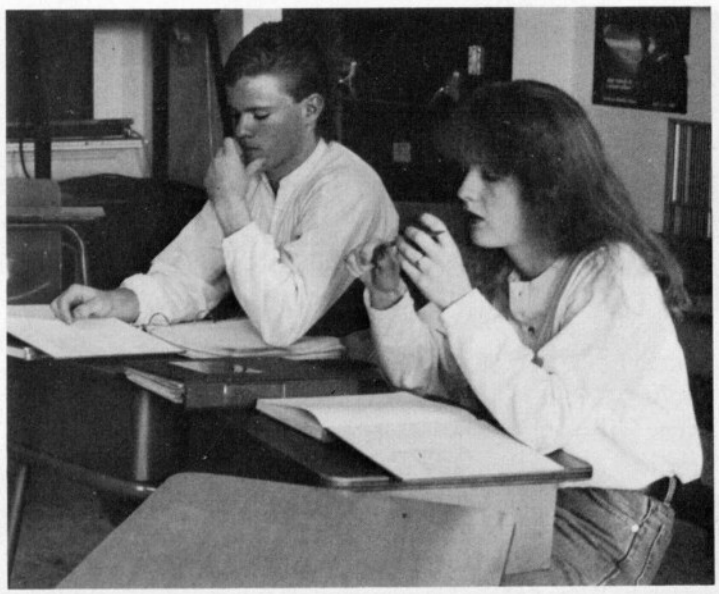
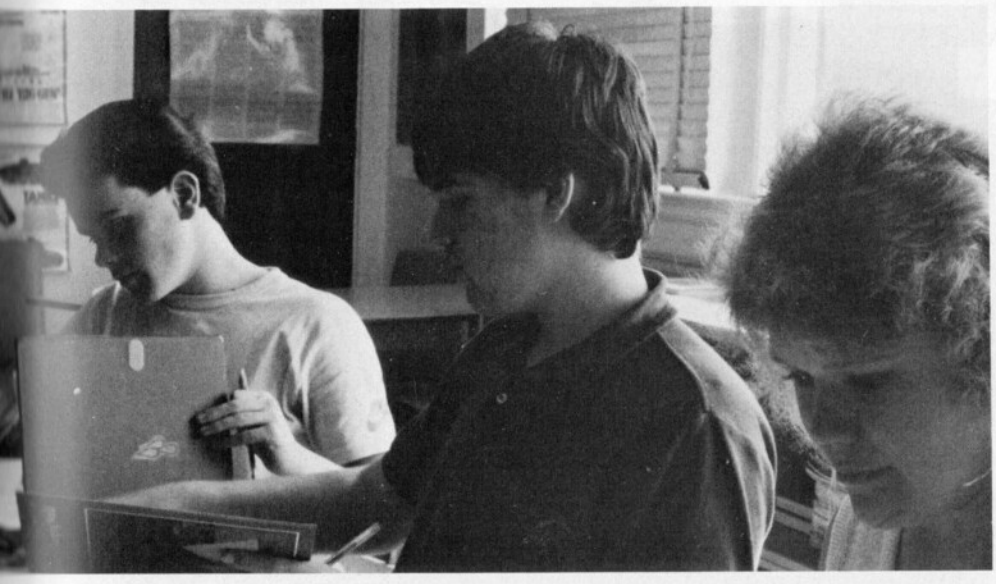
Social Studies







Any student that has had Mr. Nesmith is familiar with tha famous "groove" and pauses that makes you want to kick start him. You may want to kick him. You may ask ,"What the heck is the groove?". The groove is a rut worn into the cross bar of his podium after years of rubbing his shoes over it. Mr. Nesmith's tests are hard enough to make any history professor break into hysterics. Still we perservere. Mr. Nesmith - no one can adequately replace you.

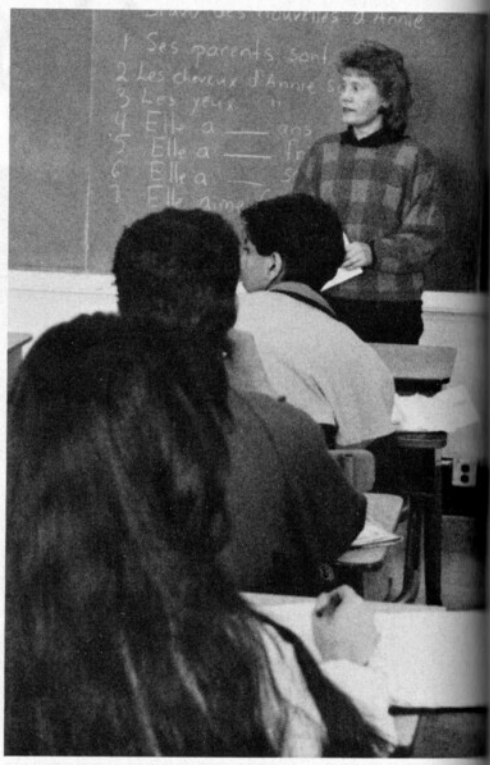
French



Those of you grade 12's who decided that French was unnecessary missed out on a lot of fun: stealing Scott's cookies, singing "Mon mec a moi", and laughing at Mike and Scott's impressions of M. le Gentil ("Quel phrase complete le mieux ce dialogue?"); not to mention all the great food: croissants, chocolat chaud, gateaux, crepes, and fruit salad left over from Block A Espanol. Of course, we worked hard as well - try writing an essay in another language at 7:45 am for a scholarship meeting. And no, the wine wasn't real. We'll miss you, Mme. Starr.

Math

At one time or another all Vic High students take Mathematics. Whether it is with Mrs. Broome, Mr. Mayer or Mrs. Blazkow you can bet you're in for a semester of grueling algebra, trigonometry or calculus. Daily tests along with four hours of home work every night is the Vic High attitude. Well, maybe I'm exaggerating a little, but you are guaranteed a Christmas party and a substitute teacher once in a while (which calls for celebration). In general, most students like math. Without it we could not calculate the fifth root of the factorial distance to the smoking pit. But that's another story.

Business Ed

It is necessary to know how to utilize omputers as they are an important part of ur future. Every field, and every profession es computers and soon some of our arents jobs will be rendered obsolete by em. Vic High offers courses to help udents become aware of the knowledge necessary to our society. Mr. Denby is an xcellent teacher in helping the students ope with the tremendous stress of slogging rough his gruelling courses.

Clothing and Textiles to me is being able to make my own clothing that is a better quality than stores, and also not having the same clothes as others. Being able to sew allows me to do something for myself. In many ways sewing is very relaxing.The feeling I get when I do a good job on a garment is one of great pride in myself. Being able to wear something that I've made really feels great. I get more compliments on outfits that I've made than things that I buy.

English

English isn't like any other course. It is the study of WORDS. Words are fun; you can play with them. You can pick them apart and stick them together. You can try to see how many words you can possibly string together in a great long sentence until the person reading it hasforgotten what you are trying to say and is desperately wishing for a period to come to their rescue so that they may be able to stop reading and give their mind a chance to recover and sort out the jumble of words that is bouncing around in their brain. Sentences can be short. Words can too. Words can flow. Words can run. Hey -- English is fun!!

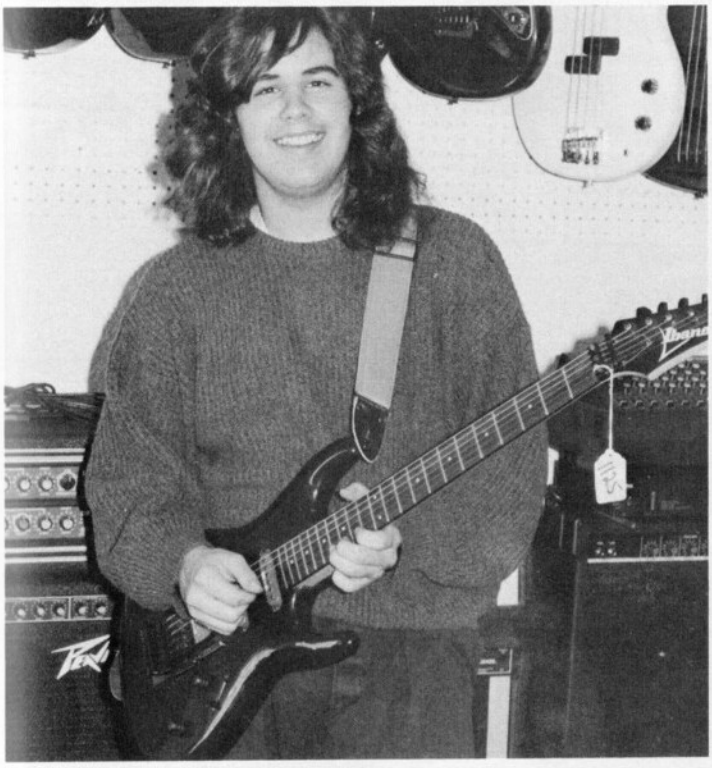
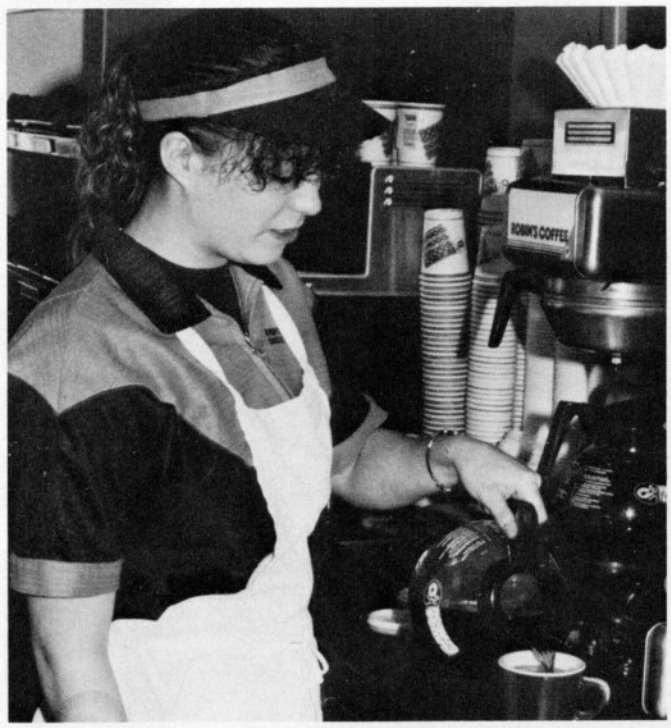
Pre - Employment





The Pre-Employment Programme at Vic High is a two year programme for students wishing to gain experience in different jobs. It consists of two grade 11 and two grade 12 classes. These students work at different job placements two days a week while carrying a regular course load the other three days. Students work in the area of employment they are suited for or wish to explore, for example; retail sales, food services, construction, mechanics, stock work, etc. Many Pre-Employment students get full-time or part-time employment as a result of their work experience. Within the school the Pre-Employment programme operates the cafeteria and runs a small sign making business.

Learning one on one through a peer proves to be effective. Both the tutor and the tutee benefit from peer tutoring. The tutor learns and grows as a person; the tutee leaves with assurance that circumstances aren't hopeless. Both develop a respect and understanding of one another, and friends are made in the process. The peer tutoring group includes: Bill Murray, Petra Krejcirik, Tracy Johnson, Jhoanna Castillo, Aime Lemley, Marika Duong and Alisoun Payne.

The peer counselling program is a unique program in its fourth year at Vic High. Peer counselling approaches a situation one on one, where both sides are equal. Whether it's a family crisis, questions about your classesor your career, or even if you just want to talk, we will be listening. The peer counsellors: Christine Babichuk, Crystal Hagglund, Christi Salyn, Tina Sulea, Lisa Truong and Tara Zehanoviz also help out in the community and organize school events such as the Health Fair, the Christmas Hampers and Drug and Alcohol Awareness Week.

The replacement left many band members disgruntled, but the hard work paid off with our excellent performance in the band festival in March.

"Since I've started taking this program, my views on music have broadened and have taken new paths of learning. There's so much to music...if you have never taken a course in it before you don't realize how difficult it can be, or how beautiful. What would life be like without music? This is something I'm glad I could never imagine. Music is an example of life, full of emotions, both good and bad, but all very necessary."

"I have been drumming for twelve years and didn't have a clue what music really was. Now, I can really be part of my band at home. I can help write songs and lyrics instead of only the rhythm of our music. By enrolling in these programs there is an infinite amount of musical knowledge to be gained."

SURVEYING THE WOOD

The Innocent and the Vulnerable live here
In the wood.
Did you know?

The twig nest of the owl sits high
In the tree.
Did you see?

The small green plants sway to and fro
In the stream.
Did you look?

The deer trails wind clearly through
On the mosses.
Did you follow?

Your flags give warning and the holes wait like graves
In the ground.
What would you bury there.....Nature?

The sky was sullen, so was I;
I wanted just to be alone.
And so I sought my sympathy,
Within the oceans rising moan.

The pounding surf, the surging sea,
Were prisoners struggling to be free.
The clouds were weeping saltily
And seagulls screamed out scathingly.

Tears of salt stung in my eyes;
The bitter windhad put them there.
Or maybe, - they were just my own,
And if they were I didn't care.

And as I walked along that shore,
My mood was lifted by the spray.

The wind, now risin to a roar,
Had blown my heavy gloom away.

IN THE GARDEN THE SONGBIRD SINGS

In the garden
the songbird sings.

Chirping through pea pods
and scurrying down the aisles of turnips.

He covers the ground
like a swooping hawk.

About to unleash
a destined approach.

He eyes the ground
waiting for some movement.

Until the earth moves
and vibrations uproar.

And the plentiful earth
nourishes his song.

In the garden

There's a way around this, but there's no solution
There's a way over this, but you won't let me fly
There's a way through this, but you won't let me in.

I'm not so lonely
When the gentle snow falls
She lulls the frantic world
To silent awe
I wish her to stay

So — How do you weigh a dragon? Not only weigh a dragon, but design a device to do it. Well, I guess I didn't do my homework. I didn't design a device to weigh a dragon but maybe I can give some insight on how to.

One dictionary definition of weigh is to have significance, importance, consequence, influence and power, I immediately drew a connection between this and the essence of what a dragon is.

The most powerful creature there is. So — in this way people can be perceived as dragons. What makes a dragon? Power can come in many forms. Wealth, courage, social responsibility and consciousness, intelligence and talent. What ever sets you apart from the rest of humanity.

The "weight" of a dragon is perceived differently by different people — since different people perceive people at different levels of importance.

To a scientist Einstein would be a dragon.

To an artist Michelangelo would be a dragon.

To a musician Mozart would be a dragon.

To some people, with a more economically minded judgement, Donald Trump would be a dragon. After all, he's got more money than most 3rd world countries. But to other people he wouldn't be much of a dragon. He would be perceived as a petty, greedy, man. They would say that with all the money he's got, he could feed millions of people. There is nothing wrong with being wealthy, but there is a responsibility that goes along with power and wealth and people like Donald Trump are almost criminally irresponsible. A dragon to other people would be people like Nelson Mandela or Martin Luther King or John Lennon.

So — to weigh a dragon you must decide who is important to you. Your father might be a dragon to you. In the future you may even be a dragon yourself. I guess the heavier the dragon, the more important they are, or the more people they affect. Anyone who matters is a dragon.

So I guess everyone is a dragon in their own way.

Principal's Message

The 1989-90 school year will always be a special one to me because Vic High is my first principalship. I feel honoured to be your principal and want you to know what a special graduating class you are to me.

During my initial visits to classes students immediately began to make me feel welcome and at home. That attitude impressed me immensely and speaks volumes about the kind of people you will be as you leave the scholarship, history, and traditon of this place and proceed out to make your life in the post-secondary world.

It will not be difficult to remember Grad 90; the dismantling of the Berlin Wall, The Goddess of Democracy, Nelson Mandela's release from prison, Voyager sending back images of Neptune from 5 billion kilometers in space, the Goods and Services tax, Meech Lake Accord, and Bill Vander Zalm's 6 by-elections will all ensure that this year will stand as a historical watershed. You have been a part of that, and given the knowledge and skills that you have gained through 13 years of formal learning you will soon be playing an even larger part.

You have learned how to think, how to solve problems in a rational and systematic fashion, and these skills will help you whether you are changing diapers, finding a cure for AIDS, marketing your innovative new idea or doing any of the myriad of activities that you will engage in over the rest of your life.

Congratulations on reaching a milestone in your life. You are well prepared to reach for others. Please come back to Vic High at any time to share your achievements with us.

Tomohawks Theme Song (sung to the tune of "12 days of Christmas")

"On the twelfth day of season, Vic High gave to us-12 awesome players, 11 ugly skirts, 10 league games, 9 of Tracy's stitches, 8 male cheerleaders, 7 grade 11's, 6 grad students, 5 fantastic flickers, 4 wheeled bus, 3 boxes of cookies, 2 terrific coaches, and a manager named Harmony."

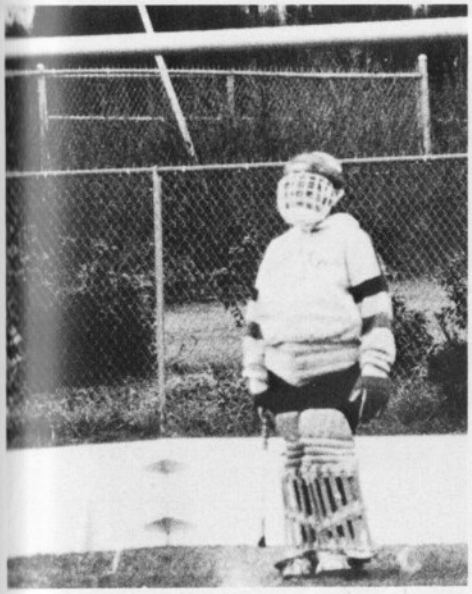
right:The team defeated Belmont by an impressive score of 5-1.

The Vic High Girls Fieldhockey team had an outstanding season. We returned the Meg Tully shield back to Vic High after 25 years by winning the City Championships. In our first game of the season we beat Mt. Doug for the first time in over 10 years. We confirmed the win with a second victory against them later in the season. Our main source of competition was Oak Bay, who we managed to tie our first itme out but whom we fell to defeat our second time around. We placed third in the Island Championships which we hosted at UVic on Oct. 27-28. Mr. and Mrs. Camp's cookies throughout the year were surely a delicious incentive. The B.C. Championship was not to be had this year but we definately had our fun in Kelowna. We managed to come in eighth in the province. The Vic High girls undoubtedly showed that they were the party crowed by teaching the other teams at the B.C.'s how to sing and do the wave. We are very proud of the team's achievements and are looking forward to next year.

- Mrs. McCurdy and Mrs. Broome



Me and Lisa were always slow on the field but when it came to racing for the cookies, it seemed like all our energy returned.

-Krista

On our way over the snowy Coquihalla, our bus full of "uncomfortable" girls ran out of gas. For the next hour and a half, some of us slept while others laughed hysterically at eachothers jokes.

Our last night at the Lodge Motor Inn proved to be memorable. Pat jumped from bed to bed, Trish and Teresa craved the doughnuts and hot chocolate they couldn't have, and I conducted our Christmas sing-along.

But seriously, the scrum of Byron Groves, Jesse Schultz, Chris Madsen, James Parr, Lloyd Bailey, Ray "WALLBREAKER" Connor, Dave Ahlers, Doug Gladders, and Ed Quadling time after time obliterates opposing pathetic scrums, along with the back line of scrum-half Zach Ross , Mike Coleman, Joel Ronne, Darcy Baxter, Bill Launay, Bill Chapeskie, Mike Battle, Gary Parr, Rod Tillapaugh, Brandy "BRAINDEAD" Pritchard,and few other bench-warmers. This bunch of rugby maniacs make up the most dedicated, hard-working, vicious men ever to walk the face of the Earth! 1989/90 did not prove to be one of the most successful years for the Vic High Tyees, but what we lacked in games won was made up in the many exciting moments that took place during each game. The most exciting moment this year was when Vic High battled Spectrum for 75 minutes in a scoreless game. When Spectrum scored, Vic High didn't give up but fought back to tie it up in the last minute of the game.

This tie ultimately removed Spectrum from attaining first place in league play. Well done team!

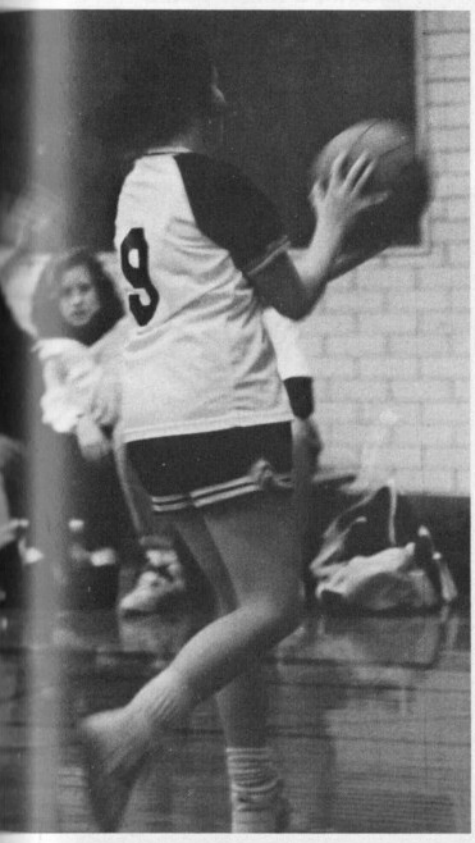
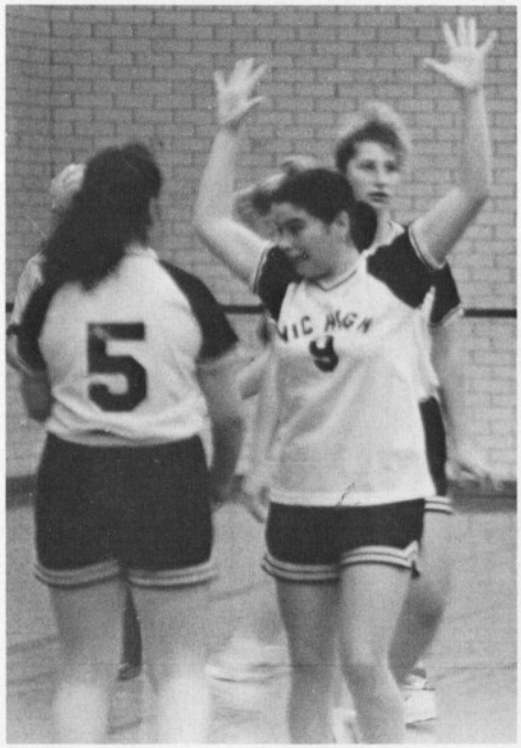
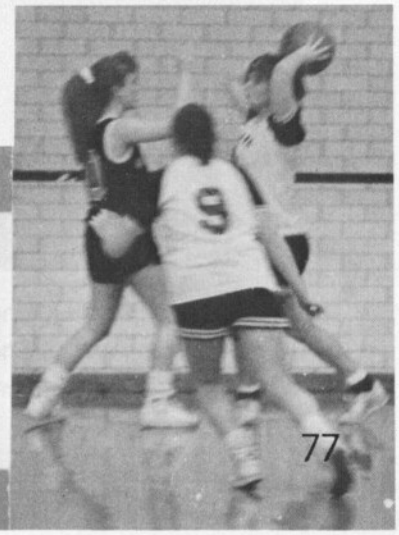
Basketball

Our girls basketball team expanded their program this year and had a more complete experience. Soon after the season began, we conducted four elementary school clinics for the girls and boys of Geoge Jay and Sir James Douglas. The next event was our mini tournament where we invited Chemainus, Claremont and Central to S.J. Willis and had members of our boys team referee. In tournament play the Tigers made the rounds to St. Margarets, Oak Bay and Mt. Doug. This gave an additional eight games in which to improve and we played teams from around the province.We didn't win any league games but we will remember that game at Belmont and Sandy Croucher's 3 point bomb and our final effort against Spectrum in our last game.







Due to the lack of players, the Totems had a shortened season with an exhibition schedule. The support we needed came from Central, with about six guys coming up to play for us. Although we were short in size and lacked experience, we did fairly well. Kali and Kareem, the twin towers, played well alll year. Dan and Gabe, our fowards, did a good job up front. Darren and Ron came off the bench with quality time. Phu helped out by scoring some hoops and had some wicked rejections. Even though we didn't have a chance at the playoffs, it was still a fun, learning season.

- Virgil Tomandl

The boys season was dedicated to our boys coach Judy Bourne. Mrs. Bourne fell ill to cancer in July and was unable to coach this year. Miss Blackstock started the boys off and Mr. Denby, Mr. Steffanick and Mr. Christianson took the reigns throughout the boys tournament and league schedule.

The Tsasquatches travelled to Nanaimo for a major tournament and to the UVic tournament. We are indeed grateful to Fuji — Raymond Eng who was able to put in a great deal of time in the last half of the season as our coach. Fuji is an outstanding volleyball player and a grad from 1989.

The Vic High Tikis had a very productive and exciting season, entering into three tournaments early in the season. The Tikis won the annual Vic High tournament, we placed in the top four in our first tournament in Nanaimo and played quite well in the U-Vic Police tournament against Vancouver's Queen Elizabeth. With the experience of the team's veteren players we played well throughout the season despite a number of players who were unfortunately plagued with injuries. Throughout the season practices were intense with the thought of the B.C. championships but unfortunately the Tikis were against tough competition with the North Island schools. The team thanks Miss Blackstock for the long hours of work she has put into the girls' volleyball program.

This year was the fourth season for Vic High's rowing team. In the past the team has trained during the winter for the spring regattas but this year the season was changed. The first regatta was at the end of September. Practices began the day after school started because Mr. Twohig was in a hurry to geteverybody in shape and teach the new people how to row. There were eight novice rowers and six junior rowers. Two members of the team were from Central Jr. High.

The team practiced three times a week out at Elk Lake and three times at the school. All of these practices were extremely hard work; but fun anyhow. Everybody managed to have more than their share of water dumped over theri heads while avoiding certain torturous exercises on the ergometer. A few lucky novice rowers even managed to capsize during one practice at the lake.

The competitionwas stiff but everyone rowed well at all three regattas. Many boats made it to the finals and the novice guys even managed to win themselves some ribbons. Great Work!

BOWLING

Mike Moore, Wayne Lun, Gary Ko

The Vic High Rollers , consisting of Wayne Lun, Gary Ko, and Mike Moore, after reaching first place near the end of leage play, slipped slightly to a highly commendable second place (behind Esquimalt) in a tough field of approximately 14 teams from eight schools. Although the Rollers were unable to advance to the city playoffs final, we played well and enjoyed ourselves. Special thanks to our sponsors Mr. Peter Denby and Mrs. Maryl McCay for their time. Vic High will continue to be extremely successful in its bowling endeavors in the upcoming years.
- Mike Moore

CROSS COUNTRY

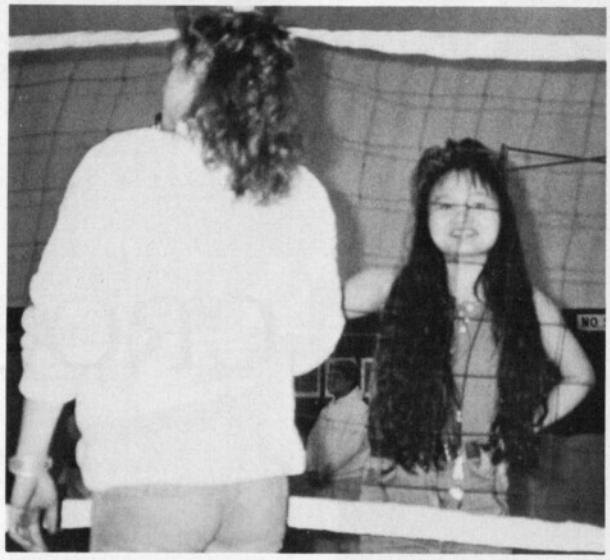
Thanks to the dedication of Cynthia Cranstoun and Darcy Baxter, Vic High was proudly represented in a sport which requires "The Right Stuff". Congratulations go to Cynthia for a gutsy performance at the B.C. championships where she faced stiff competition from across B.C. A big thank you also goes out to all of those teachers and students who helped host the awards ceremony and luncheon at Vic High this year. It was a great success!
- coach: Mr. Johl

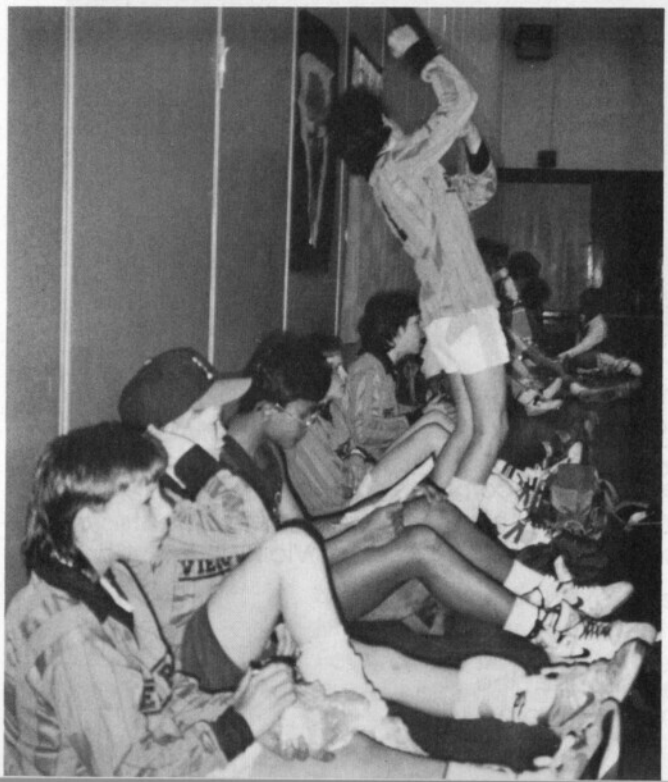
Cynthia made her way through the pack to the finish line and back to her coach Dave Johl.

Elementary Volleyball Clinic

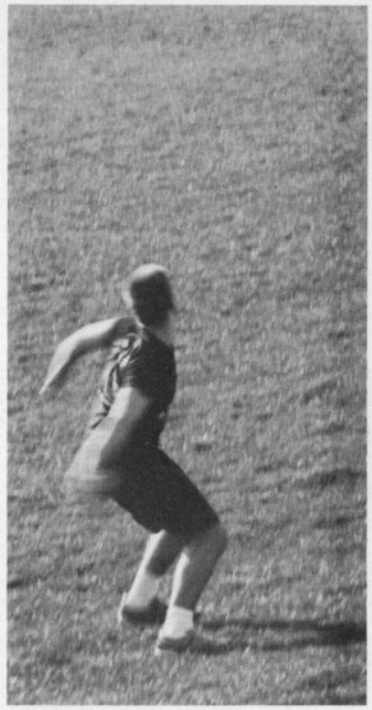
The start of February means the start of our elementary school season. This year we completed 12 elementary clinics which have our Vic High team players coaching approximately four elementary students in the basic skills of volleyball.

The grand finale of this ground work is inviting all the schools to our elementary tournaments. We host 12 girls teams for an afternoon and 12 boys teams for and afternoon. Lots of work by our team players goes into these events but it is a fantastic experience. Many of our grads keep in touch through this event.





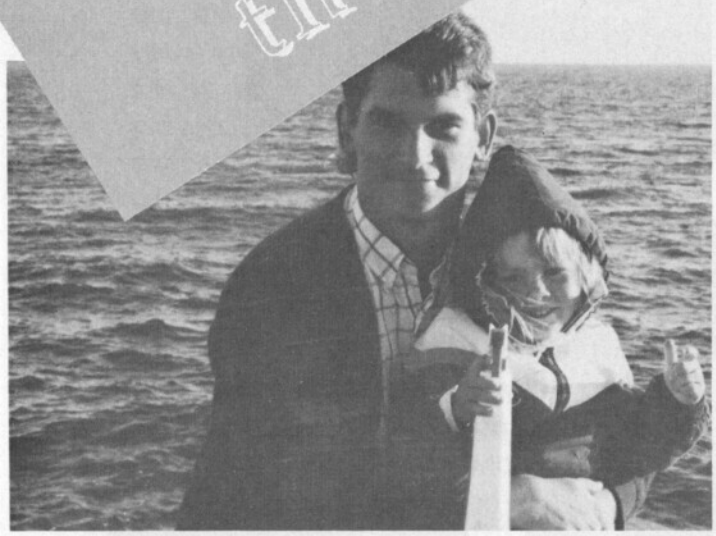
TRACK AND FIELD

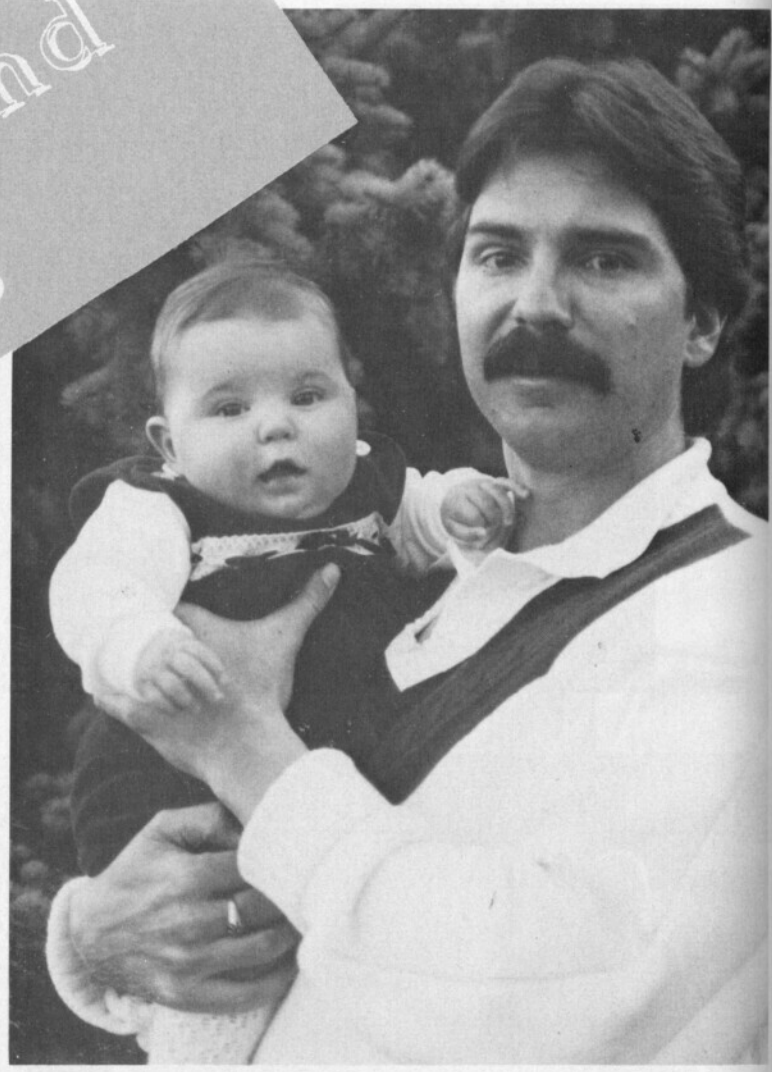


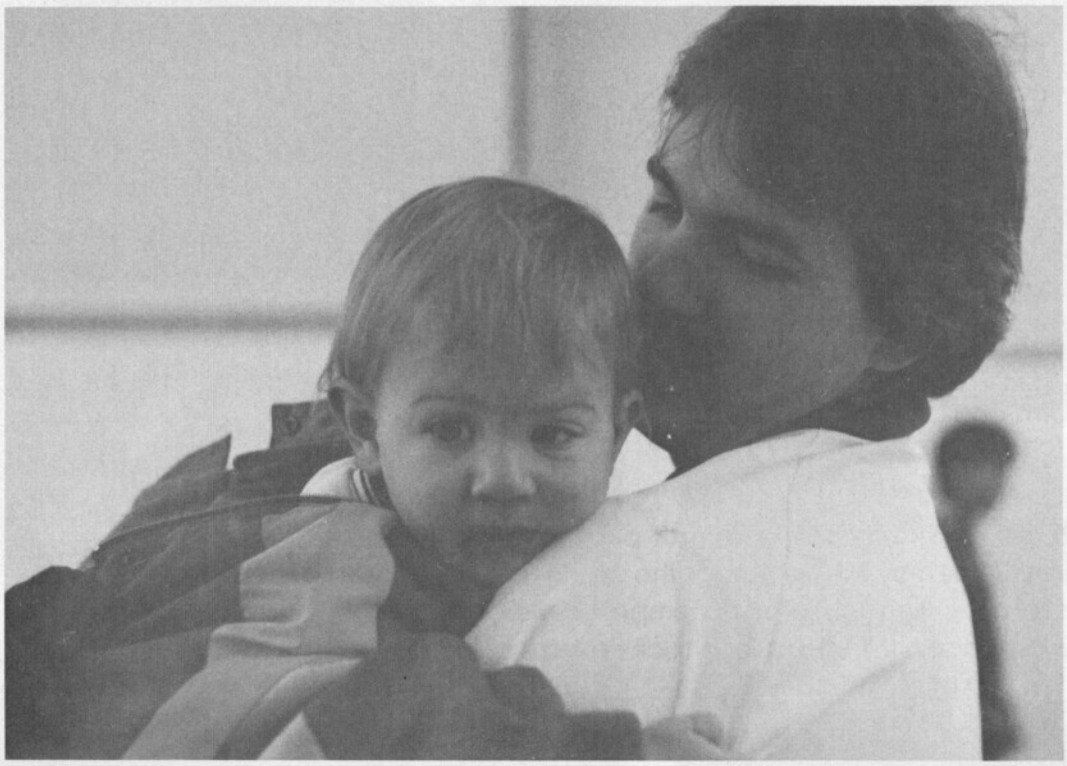
Four Track & Field hopefuls train in early spring.
Ms. Blackstock shows her form and...
...Ed Quadling applies that form to the discus.

Track and Field yet to get underway at the time of publishing the book looks to be a promising sport this year. Guided by Ms Blackstock the team will work hard to perform to the best of there abilities. Vic High has always competed well in both field and track events and will do their best again this year. Good Luck athletes.

Coaches and their Kids







This was a very productive year for this year's coaches. They not only scored on the field ,but off the field as well. Mr. Girard's wife gave birth early in the year to a beautiful girl named Lauren. Mr. Christianson's son is named Tyler and Mr. Jung had a daughter named Hannah. Two other members of our staff, Mrs. Nunez and Mrs. Smeele, left before the year was over on maternity leave.

On behalf of the student body, the Student Council decided to adopt a foster child from an impoverish part of the world.....Indonesia. Our foster child's name is Yoksan Sakan. He was born on January 3, 1979. He is attending GMIT elementary school and likes religion and singing class but he dislikes mathematics. He is in the fifth grade.

Yoksan is an only child who lives with both parents. His father's name is Marthen L. Sakan and his mother's name is Fransina Sakan-Nabunome. They all live in a village called Oemofa. Both his parents are farmers and speak native Timorese.

Yoksan's family lives from selling farming crops and by breeding cattle. Their average monthly income is $8.10. Monthly expenses are $2.43 for food, $0.81 for kerosene, $1.62 for other needs including school fees and $4.05 for their health care.

Yoksan and his family live in their own house built of wood, palm branches and a grass roof. It does not have a kitchen, bathroom or toilet. They walk 2 kilometers to get water from a well. They have one hectare of dry field planted with corn, cassava and vegetables each year. They also breed pigs and chickens.

We have sponsored Yoksan for a year, until January 1991. Through our donation we will be helping his family and his community to develop projects which benifit their village of Oemofa.

It began with a gruelling nine hour flight from Vancouver that stopped over in Amsterdam for four hours, then it was off to the bustling, vibrant city of Rome. After seeing majestic, ancient monuments such as the Roman Forum and the Colosseum , the tour continued on to Assisi, visiting the Churches of St. Francis and the Medeival Fortress. Florence, where the Statue of David resides, was next. Wandering through open flea markets we visited the prevalent leather factories where many purchases were made. Monte Carlo - home of beautiful beaches, ice blue ocean and classic Mediterranean scenery was a refreshing change from the noisy cities previously visited. We then took the night train from Nice to Paris. Here, in Paris, we saw the Tour Eiffel and the Mona Lisa at the Louvre. During our stay we took a late night Bateau Mouch down the Seine giving us a wonderful perspective of Paris. Our trip officially ended with an exhausting flight home but in our minds it will last forever.

Every Year Vic High students open their hearts at Christmas time and give hampers to needy families in town. This year was no exception; students gave generously as the boxes overflowed with toys and food (Blasner's class gave the most). I've enjoyed badminton and bowling. My philosophy to all future grade 12's - take Algebra 12 and you will suffer immensly.
— Gary Ko

Well this here's Josh, in case you didn't know it
It seems like this year everyone's a poet
So, I guess that I'll be one too
So this is a poem from me to you
There were lots of good times to be had at this school
I mean all in all, it was pretty cool
Some know me for art - some know me as a friend
And I hope that I see you all again
I'm not a fighter - I am a lover
Well, here's one last quote - Peace, brother.
— Josh Blakney

These are the best years of our life so lets enjoy them to the fullest.
— Angela Gardner

Eden can't say he enjoyed finding out the phone books in the police interrogation room weren't for phone calls.
— Eden Pell

Do you know how to keep an idiot in suspense? Turn upside down for an answer.
— Bonnie Cormier (Bubbles)

I'm getting something out of school this year - me! Long live the Locker Hall of Fame!
— Kathleen Sancaster

To all the Latino Amigos - have a good year and I will see you guys at Merlin's as usual.
— Alexi Ortega (The Numero 10)

This Kelowna import can be remembered for her pointed fluvoges, Kahlua weekends, Guatemalian pants, hard punches, strawberry scent, and erratic driving. Chris's main ambitions are to become a fashion designer, own an Elderdown (man included within), and learn how to drive slowly - at least safely anyway. Right Hans, Alice, and Dave?!?!?! This hip chick with a reggae twist leaves Vic High saying FILL YOUR PITA and DOES TOM MORSTAD KNOW NICK????
P.S. Widjahphinga Alice?
P.P.S. LHOF human barricades live on!
— Chris Kopeck

— Barb Ingalls

Jenny's life ambition is to have her own buisness. She would really like to own an island. Her most embarrassing moment was when she dived to save the volleyball, half of her front teeth chipped. All night she was covering her mouth and didn't say a word. "Ms. B's suicide drills are awesome!" she says.

"To be great, one must suffer, then the rewards will be great."
— Minh Ly

In the begining there were two separate beings existing apart but within the same realm. Then destiny brought them together and they co-existed in the LHOF until the fateful day when one was banished by her pride and the other remained although the separation between them was insurmountable. In the end they traversed the material sphere, journeyed to Mexico with non-LHOF members and resided there in tranquility."
— Krsangi Baxter

To Teresa, Pat and Harmony-FYB always! Memories of 4th floor, Leadership (ball repair), and overpopulated lockers will always be with me but the most memorable of all is of Fieldhockey (no gas on the Coquihalla and McCurdy's jokes). "Ladies and Gentlemen, it gives me great pleasure...."
— Patricia Ruttan

Here's to another year-my final one. I want to thank Mr. Jung and all the Titans for two wonderful seasons. "Ruck over". H.P. & J.M.
— Jackson McAllister (Action Jackson)

Pat,Trish,& Teresa-FYB always! Also, grab some singing lessons. Tasha-remember the gum. Karina-rem-ember the peanut butter. Tomohawks-thanx for Kelowna. Chris-"Big Blue". Dave B.-"She's not on the menu". To Kohala H.S.-sorry so far away. Miss you a lot! "Granny" Ruttan-love you after all these years. Thanx for being my lucky charm (Halloween,skating). Jackson-thanx for everything. And to all Grads-good luck and have fun.
— Harmony Plenty

It's finally here. There have been lots of times to remember and lots of times to forget in the last 12 years. After Grad I am going to explore the world and decide what I want to be. Good luck to the Class of 1990, remember, T. The Best is yet to come!
— Karina Stonebridge

Life moves in only one direction and that's forward. Now is the time to make the most of your life. Favorite expression: "Works for me!" Goodbye Vic High!
— Alana Pohle

It was fun while it lasted. We all had a lot of kicks. I leave to you this stupid little tidbit.
— Mark Ludvik

I would like to thank Mr. Jung for his dedication and invaluable support in the production of this yearbook. Thank you also to all my friends who stuck by me. Good luck to you all in the future.
— Allyson Jacox

I will always remember the various teachers dressed in tutus and gumboots doing the sugarplum fairy routine on the school stage. I did not like being called "slick" but I loved all my classes. Don't you believe me?
— Tim Anderson

School is what you make of it. The future is worth a lot. But even greater is time to connect.
— Don Varriel

After four of the most unhistorical, statementless years of my life I feel it's about time I had some realistic fun.
— Karen Sliter

In the future I want to be rich, I love the blue Pontiac Lemans that was in the shop. My pet peeve is Management class, my last words are "It's never too late to go back & it's really worth it when you finish.".
— April Allan

My school years have brought many memorable experiences. After graduation I am moving to France to study French and soak up the culture. My goals include learning French, Spanish, Japanese, & to fly an airplane. When I finish gallivanting around the globe, I want to become an interpreter/tour guide & settle in some exotic land. Remember K The Best is yet to come. May all your dreams come true!
— Tasha Boudreau

Hey everyone, grad is finally here! I enjoy school, my teachers and roller skating. I am going to miss them all. Take care!
— Jennifer Clark

My memories of school are not wanting to be a Tobby to other people in the auto shop. The teacher I will remember most is Ms. McDonald and Frank Sedgewick. My pet peeves are teachers with power trips.
— Keith McAlpine

I'm looking forward to finishing school. I like skating and working at the Blethering Place. BYE!!
— Tanya Robbins

Teachers are great. They spend a lot of time helping students learn. Students should start to appreciate the things they do for us.
— Cindy Eplin

My future hopes are to pass this pre-employment program & get into an apprenticeship plumbing course and become a plumber.

To the Clan From Me
Friday nights are still free!
— Brandy Pritchard (Braindead)

Slowly, calmly, she glided ever so close whispering softly in my ear, "wake up, you're going to miss your bus."
— Rod Tillapaugh (Gonzer)

Well we've achieved what
We all strived for all these years.
Now friends separate to follow
Separate paths and destinies.
New friends, new places, new aspirations
But never will I forget "the Clan" at Victoria High School.
Good luck!
— Samantha Barrett

I wish everyone happiness and luck for the future. You need it!
— Leigh Barrett

I will miss those perverted times I shared with "the Clan" and would like to wish them all the best for the future.
P.S. Short but sweet
— Tracy Rogers (Little Woman)

My stay here finally ends
Leaving me with lots of friends
My memories will stay with me
Always and eternally.

— Addie Murphy

Grad 90 is here at last
What a year - it's been a blast
To all my friends from Friday nights:
"Black and whites and city lights"
P.S. I didn't do it.
— Bill Chapeskie (Bailiff)

Chem and Physics were a riot, thanks to Dino. See you later you Goofium Dioxide sample. To Lloyd, Dave, Doug and others: thanks for your generous donations to my poker fund.
— Bill Batchelor

It's canary yellow, OK!
I'm going to miss the Locker Hallway of Hell, especilly MLE, AA, and LY and the rest of the people who made it livable.
— Jeanette Moores

I'd like to thank Vic High's teachers and staff for everything they have given me.
— Desmond Harrison

This year wasn't a total bomber, as I thought it would! Now I'm ready for the frog. "Deas do catch"
— Rudy Qumtanilla

I've enjoyed bowling with Gary and Mike this year. We'll always be winning.
— Wayne Lun

Hallway of Hell members make their last year a fun one.

Tasha works in the dark room.

Scott grins proudly as he shows us his locker.

After graduating from Victoria High School, Laurie desires a bit of money, her own apt., and last but not least, to fly away to Britain with her hubby Mark C. She'll be most remembered for her little red lunch box which she toted everywhere. She'll miss her pals and wishes all future grads the best of luck!
— Laurie McDonagh

My favorite memories are the islands at UVic, & playing on the soccer & fieldhockey teams. My last words are "Beat Brentwood and Oak Bay."
— Pat Hnylycia

School is all behind me now that I'm graduating. Now to think on the future. Maybe I'll get a Trans-Am!
— Ricky DeMelo

Rugby and lunch hour made school more exciting and entertaining. McPukes made it kinda greasy.
— Mike Coleman

It was great to be young and insane at Vic High. I fit right in.

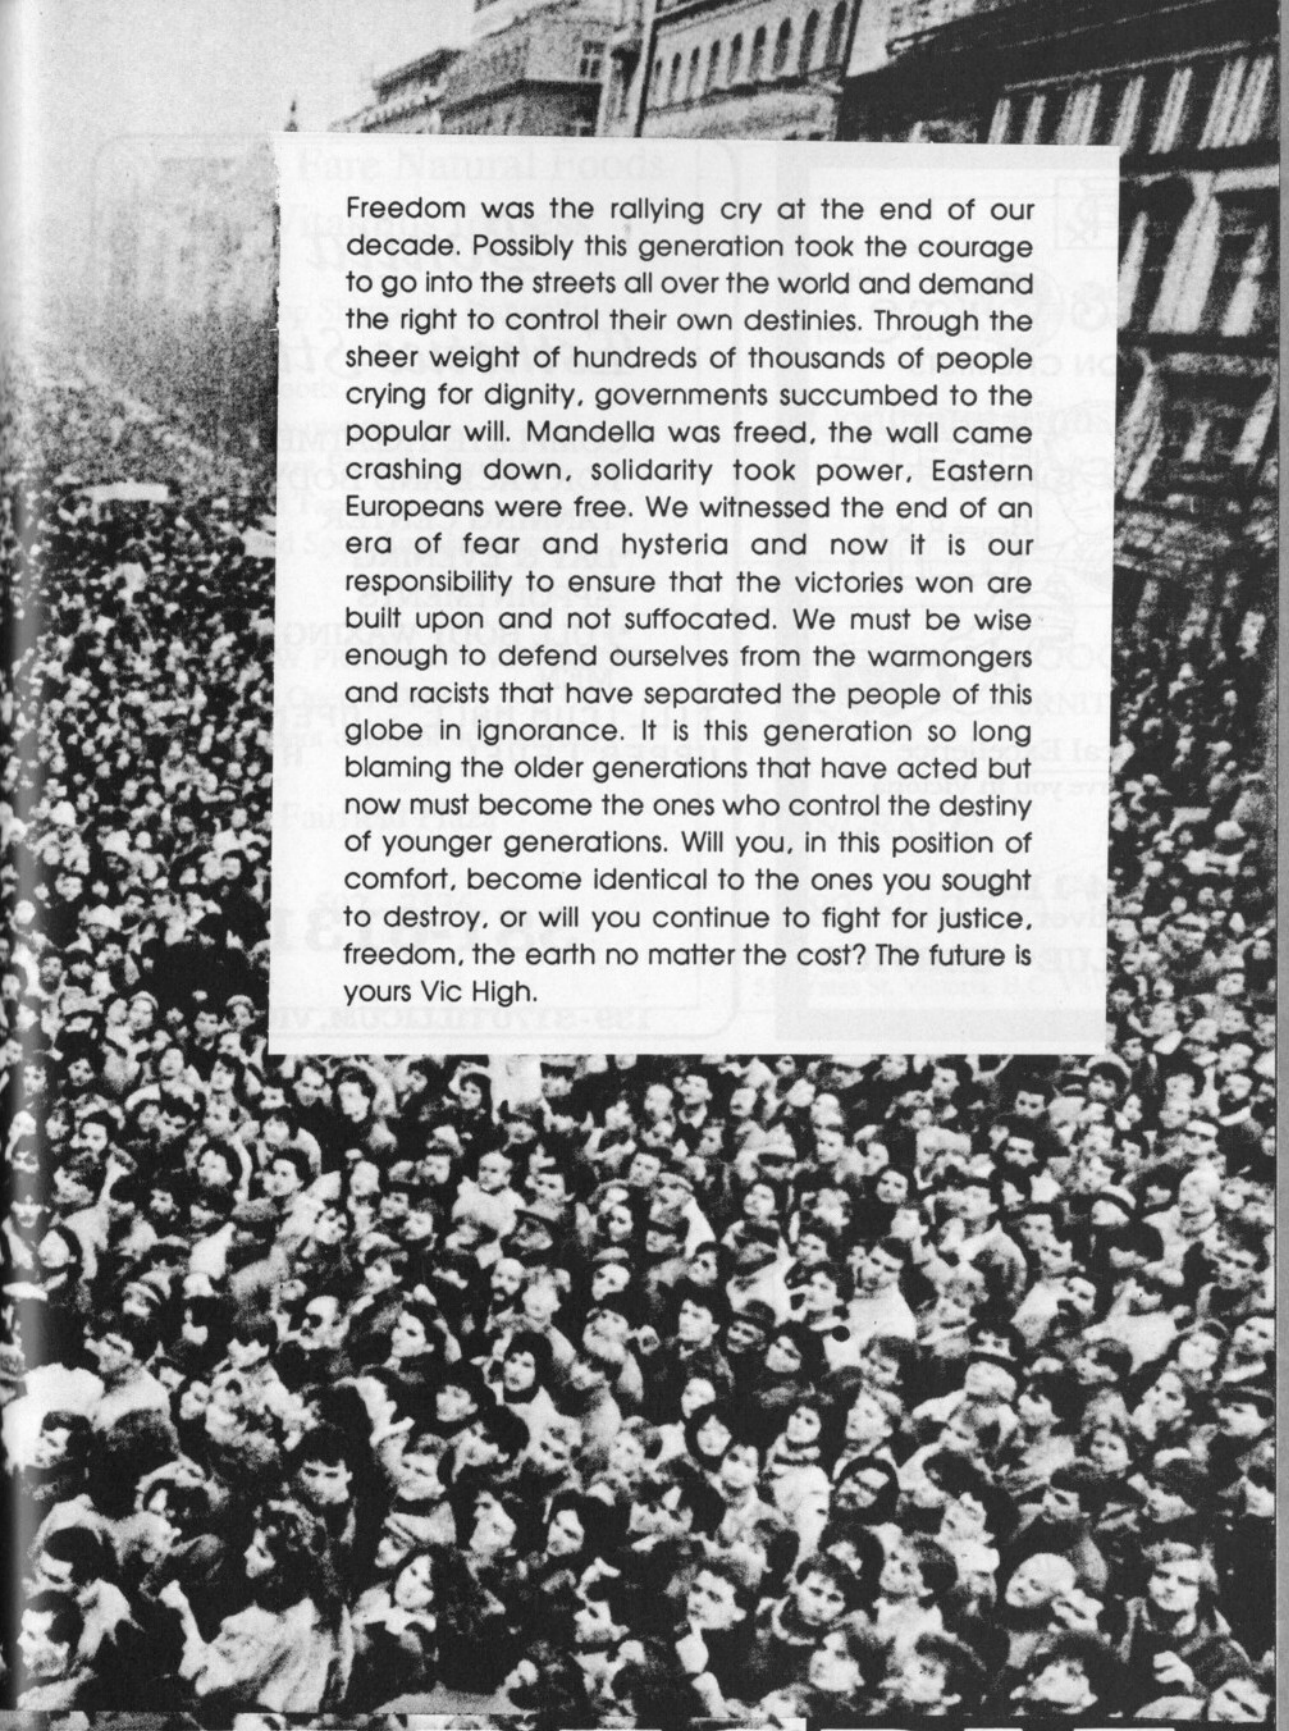
FREEDOM THE FUTURE



Freedom was the rallying cry at the end of our decade. Possibly this generation took the courage to go into the streets all over the world and demand the right to control their own destinies. Through the sheer weight of hundreds of thousands of people crying for dignity, governments succumbed to the popular will. Mandella was freed, the wall came crashing down, solidarity took power, Eastern Europeans were free. We witnessed the end of an era of fear and hysteria and now it is our responsibility to ensure that the victories won are built upon and not suffocated. We must be wise enough to defend ourselves from the warmongers and racists that have separated the people of this globe in ignorance. It is this generation so long blaming the older generations that have acted but now must become the ones who control the destiny of younger generations. Will you, in this position of comfort, become identical to the ones you sought to destroy, or will you continue to fight for justice, freedom, the earth no matter the cost? The future is yours Vic High.
